1. Check what you have

Your worksheet — type in the fields or print

Adapt the plan to your household, preferences and existing supplies.

Item	Amount / use first

What should we use first?

Check storage and food safety guidance that applies to the ingredients you use.

2. Choose the week

Your worksheet — type in the fields or print

Adapt the plan to your household, preferences and existing supplies.

Day	Meal / plan
Monday
Tuesday
Wednesday
Thursday
Friday
Saturday
Sunday

Keep one evening flexible. Change the plan when the week changes.

3. Write one shopping list

Your worksheet — type in the fields or print

Adapt the plan to your household, preferences and existing supplies.

Fresh items

Cupboard items

Other items

Before paying

This is an illustration of a planning process, not nutrition or medical advice.

1. Check what you have

Completed teaching example

Adapt the plan to your household, preferences and existing supplies.

Item	Amount / use first
Rice	One bag
Lentils	Half a bag
Frozen vegetables	One bag
Eggs	Four
Pasta	One packet
Tinned tomatoes	Two tins

What should we use first?

Use eggs and any fresh ingredients already in the fridge.

Check storage and food safety guidance that applies to the ingredients you use.

2. Choose the week

Completed teaching example

Adapt the plan to your household, preferences and existing supplies.

Day	Meal / plan
Monday	Rice, lentils and vegetables
Tuesday	Pasta with tomato sauce
Wednesday	Eggs with vegetables and toast
Thursday	Flexible evening: reuse what is left
Friday	Bean wraps
Saturday	Repeat a household favourite
Sunday	Review supplies and plan the next shop

Keep one evening flexible. Change the plan when the week changes.

3. Write one shopping list

Completed teaching example

Adapt the plan to your household, preferences and existing supplies.

Fresh items

Wrap fillings and any fresh ingredients missing from the plan

Cupboard items

Beans and wraps if not already available

Other items

Bread if needed; check the pantry before adding more

Before paying

Remove duplicates. Check quantities against the meals and existing supplies.

This is an illustration of a planning process, not nutrition or medical advice.